Spry Community Linds High School

A joint program of Chicago Sister Cities International (CSCI) and the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC), the Global Youth Ambassadors Leadership Summit is a one-week, intensive program for teenage girls, ages 14–16, from Chicago and its 28 international sister cities, to build the next generations of Global leaders.

Over 40 young girls from Chicago and around the world have traveled to Chicago to participate in the Global Youth Ambassador Leadership Summit. The Summit provides a unique experience for leadership development, cultural awareness and civic exchange while building relationships to last a lifetime. The girls experience the Chicago with their peers while engaging with business and civic leaders of Chicago.

The Summit:

- Positions Chicago as a leading global city
- Expands relationships with Chicago's 28 sister cities
- Creates a global mindset and promotes cultural diversity

We welcome you to visit us at ChicagoSisterCities.com to learn more about the Summit and our international work on behalf of the City of Chicago.

“I have learned so much about my own personal beliefs and others throughout this process. This has ameliorated my understanding of global issues.”

Elizabeth Ajayi

age 15, Birmingham, U.K.

“I realize that I went to Chicago as one person and came home very transformed into another. And with the benefit of time, I've begun to realize the huge impact of my experience in Chicago.”

Raya Treibicz

age 14, Toronto, Canada

“This week was amazing. We all learned from each other and from all the women we met. We have had a great opportunity, and I am sure that all of us will become active leaders and will change the world.”
